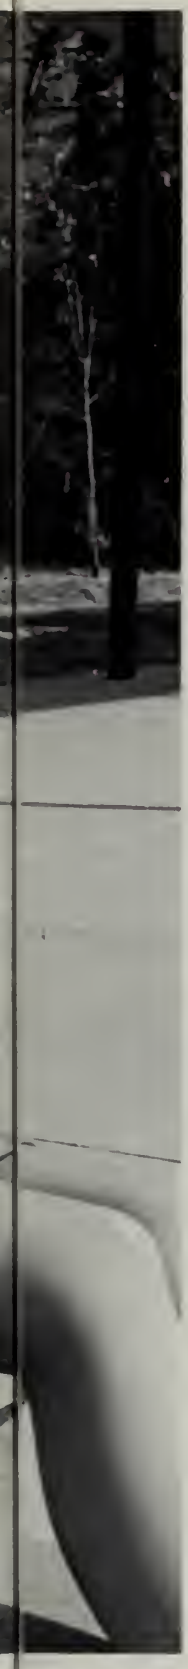
Thinking back
over our four years
at Sharon High



we
the class of 1968
reflect together
on our high school experience:

on the warm friendships developed with other students, on the achievements made in the classroom and on the field,

and these reflections
are golden memories.

In Appreciation

Every year, as graduation approaches, seniors reflect upon the forces which have molded them into mature and independent individuals. Suddenly we are aware that we have also become a unified class, and we realize that it was due to your guidance. With your help, we have sponsored many class functions, conducted a Junior Prom, presented a senior play, and participated in all areas of school activities. We, the members of the class of 1968, wish to express our appreciation to you, our advisors, Mrs. Carroll and Mr. Foley, who have given so much of yourselves and of your time to help us make our four years at Sharon High memorable.

Dear Miss Reynolds,

Over the past year, we, the class of 1968, have tried to record the memories of our experiences together at Sharon High. Our efforts culminated in the publication of the 1968 MARSENGOLD. We realize that without your constant guidance, we never would have been able to accomplish the work which was laid before us last spring. You have spent countless hours working and struggling with us, but more important, you have whole-heartedly given your advice and understanding. In appreciation of your efforts, we, the graduating class of 1968, dedicate our yearbook to you – Miss Mary Reynolds.

Sincerely,
Amy Savage
Editor-in-Chief

Dedicated to Miss Reynolds

Administration

Mr. Dowd

Mr. Danielson

Over the years, Sharon High School has achieved a reputation for excellence in the academic community. Modern facilities and a dedicated faculty have created an atmosphere for academic pursuit and cultural and athletic enrichment. These ideals have been stimulated by the administration comprised of Mr. Dowd, Mr. Blanchon, and Mr. Danielson. Together they have strived to establish a framework within which the faculty and student body can operate effectively.

Mr. Blanchon

and Guidance

Mr. John Barrows
Guidance

Mr. Albert Soule
Guidance

In the fall of 1967, the guidance department added one more member to its staff. Working with Mr. Barrows, the head of the department, Miss Haley, Mr. Soule, and Mr. Konsavage, Mr. Marcus divided his time between teaching and counseling. As in past years, the counselors aided students in arranging schedules, selecting colleges, and choosing vocations. It has been the goal of the department this year to stress the dual role of the counselor; that is, personal problems in addition to educational problems have been and are their concern.

Department Increases Staff to Four

Sharon High's English Department

Mr. Charles Lane
English
"We'll do it this way, huh?"

Mr. Ernest Blake
English, Department Head
"Fantabulous!"

Mrs. Emma Magro
English
"If I were to give you a test right now, you could all get 100%!"

During the current year, a reading skills workshop was initiated. Special three-week and five-week courses attempted to assist students with their reading problems.

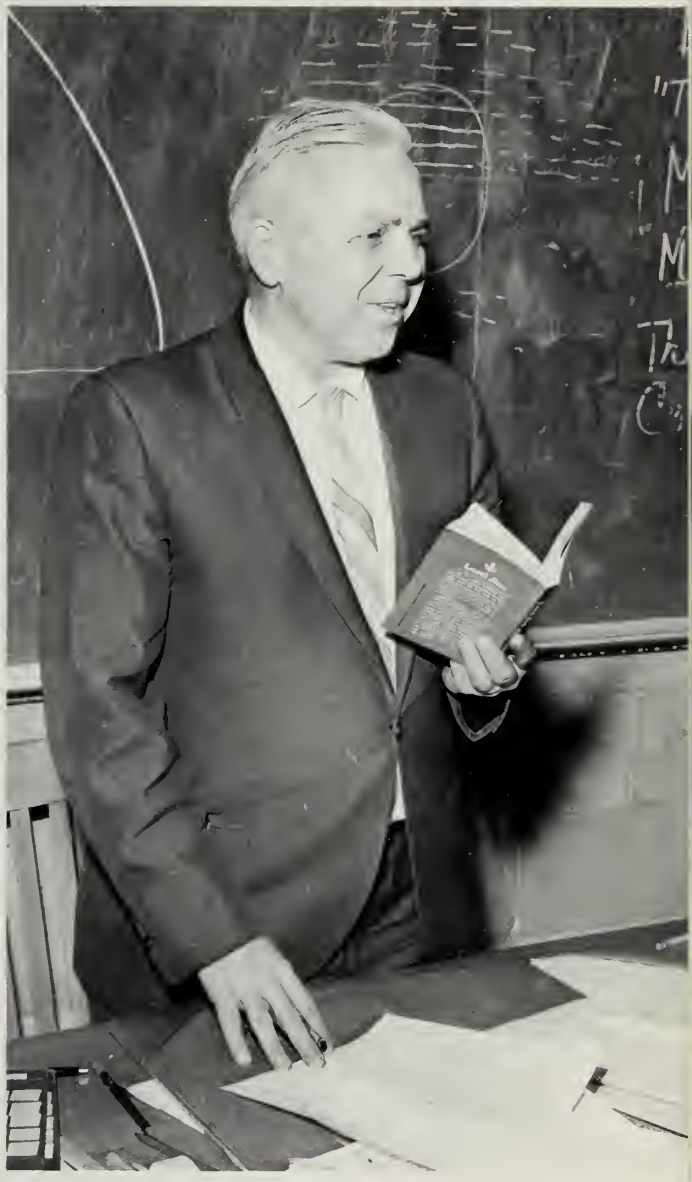
Mr. William Riley
English
Advisor: Novice Debating
"If there's no cream, will you settle for black?"

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Gains New Members

Mrs. Judith McDonough
English
Advisor: Cheerleaders
"What do you mean, what color was the Scarlet Letter?"

Mr. Carroll Holt
Developmental Reading
"Now you're showing a big improvement.."



Mr. Carlyle Newton
English
Advisor: Dramatics Club, Thespian Society
" Ladies and gentlemen . . . . "

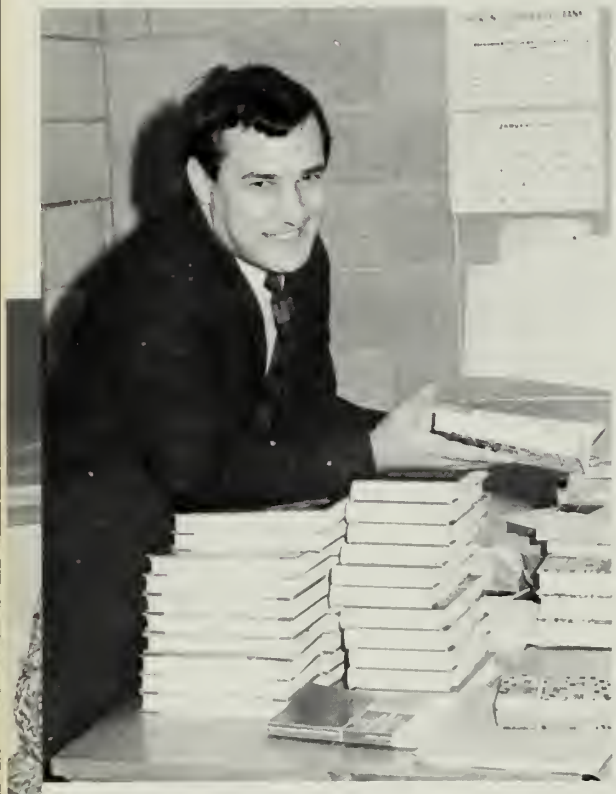
Miss Helen Sanford
English
Advisor: Class of 1970, Dramatics Club
"The only excuse for not doing homework is death."

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Program Modifications Studied

Miss Mary E. Reynolds
English and Mathematics
Advisor: MARSENGOLD
"I really don't appreciate the competition."

Mrs. Katherine Norwood
English
Advisor: Creative Writing Club
"Your deportment is questionable."



Mr. Philip A. Pane
English
Advisor: EAGLE
Coach: Baseball
"Deadline: NEXT FRIDAY."

Miss Mavis Rubin
English
Future Teachers of America Club

The year also saw an increased use of audio and visual aids equipment in the many phases of the curriculum. Monthly movies, sponsored by the English Department, were shown during Period 7.

Although there have been no major curriculum changes, program modifications have been studied and are being planned.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Art, Music, and Library

Miss Marion Clark
Library
Advisor: Library Club
"Cease the chatter."

Expanding, enriching, exciting—these are the words to describe the library department at Sharon High. To keep pace with our ever-growing school, Miss Clark has purchased many new books, records, and films and has supplemented the reference area. The library itself has been extended into room 100. This extension provided separate carols for individualized study, and more shelving for a growing collection of books.

Mr. Frank Bryant
Art
Advisor: Oil Painting Club
"It's time to put everything away."

Art instruction under the direction of Mr. Frank Bryant is offered to any student. A beginning student is offered introductory courses in various media and techniques which prepare him for the Fine Arts Classes offered to upper classmen. An Art History Course is given to any student interested in art throughout the world.

The music department is capably directed by Mrs. Carolyn Baughman. Under her guidance, the girls' chorus, boys' chorus, mixed chorus, band, madrigal group, and dance band turn discord into harmony. In music classes, students study harmony, theory, composition, and music appreciation, and learn to play various instruments.

Mrs. Carolyn Baughman
Music
Advisor: Boys' Chorus, Girls' Chorus, Band, Mixed Chorus, Madrigal Group
"Let's see if you can reach high C."

SHARON PUBLIC LIBRARY

New Courses

Mr. Everett Downing
History, Department Head
Advisor: Chess Club
"I try to put some humor into this class, and all I get is a horse laugh."

Mr. George Anthony
History
Advisor: Junior EAGLE
"Maybe we'll do some work today."

This year, the History Department instituted a new program. Because seniors in the college preparatory program had completed the history requirements, they were offered semester courses which included Economics and African, Asian or Western Hemisphere Cultures. Seniors could also elect Business Law in addition to history courses.

Mrs. Lauretta Carroll
History and Mathematics
Advisor: Class of 1968
"He's a marvelous man, simply marvelous!"

HISTORY AND SOCIAL STUDIES

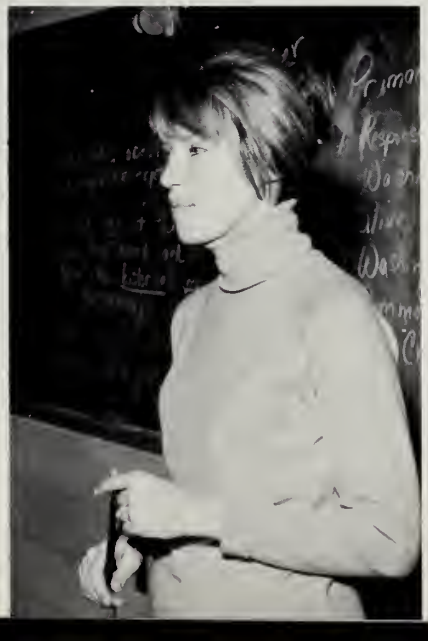
Advisor: Investment Club
Coach: Track and Cross Country
"I belong to a carpenters' union; I nail people!"

Mr. Robert Cunha
History
Manager: Faculty Athletics
Coach: Varsity Baseball
"Well, I'm not a prude, class."



Mrs. Renata Manomaitis
History and English
"Say a few words for the tape."

HISTORY AND SOCIAL STUDIES

Importance of Languages Stressed

This year saw not only the broadening of the curriculum in the Latin and French departments, but also the arrival of a new faculty member, Mr. Gutierrez, to the newly formed Spanish Department. The addition of more modern lab facilities has helped to improve the instruction of spoken French and Spanish, as well as the fundamental grammar and conversation of Latin.

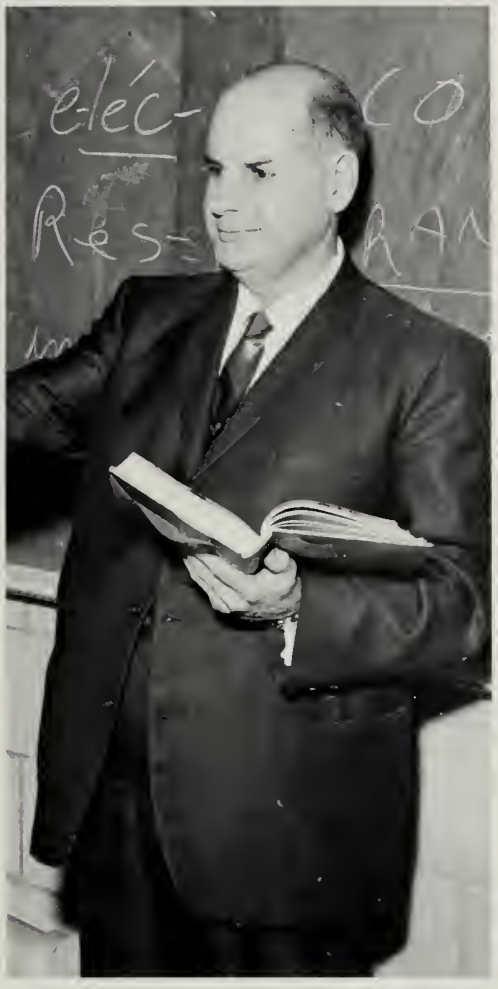
Miss Doris Newton
French
Advisor: French I and II Club
"Pronunciation, intonation . . . and rhythm."

Mr. Daniel Foley
Latin and Spanish
Advisor: Debating Club, Forensic League, Class of 1968
"What would you do without your superior Latin training?"

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

For Communication in the World

Miss Paula Murray
French
Advisor: French III and IV Club
"French gives me a headache."



Miss Dorothy Chase
Latin
Advisor: Red Cross Youth Council,
Junior Classical League
"Barry, unprepared again!"

Mr. Alberto R. Gutierrez
Spanish
"You will come to my optional review."

Mr. Roger Chappuis
French and Advanced Humanities
Advisor: Classical Music
Appreciation Club
"So you didn't like my friendly, little French test."

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Math and Science,

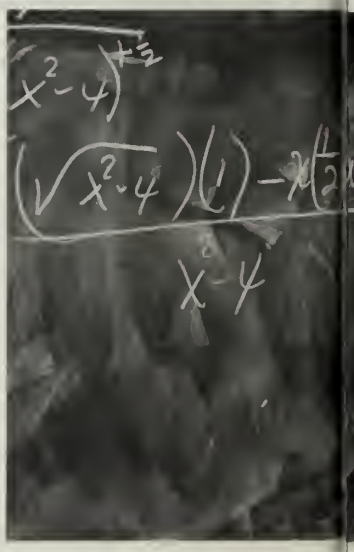
Mr. William Fallon
Mathematics
"Children"

Mrs. Joan Vital
Mathematics
"If you would give me a chance to explain . . . "

Mr. Joseph Cook
Mathematics
"That's good for five nights."

Mr. Thomas Graffte
Mathematics
"We are now masters of chapter . . . "

Miss Marie Augustin
Mathematics
"Algebra is a tool . . . The finer we mold the tool, the finer the product we can make with the tool."



Mrs. Lillian Reardon
Mathematics
Advisor: Math Club
"This is the formula for my hand cream."

MATHEMATICS

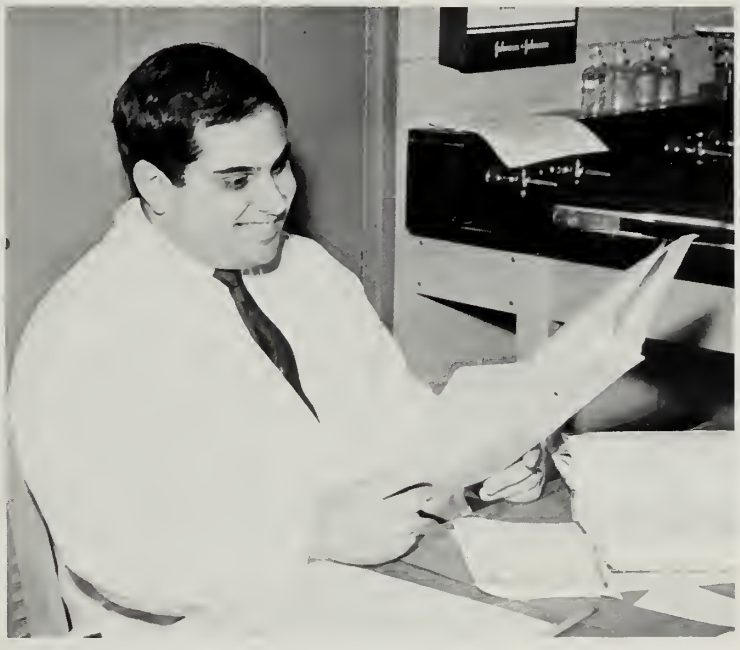
Mr. Basil Cronin
Mathematics
Coach: Tennis and J.V. Basketball
"Question, Mark?"

Mr. Dudley Davenport
Science
Coach: Varsity Basketball and J.V. Baseball
"Beautiful! Beautiful!"

Mr. Myles Marcus
Science and Guidance
Advisor: Audio-Visual Aids Club
"Under this microscope, if you look carefully enough, you will see a hand."

Tools Needed to Shape . . .

The math and science departments of Sharon High School offer a wide variety of programs to satisfy the needs and interests of the students. Courses in prep math, algebra and geometry, general science and biology offer the basis for a sound liberal arts education. Students wishing to probe deeper into specialized subjects may take trigonometry and calculus to complement advanced courses in physics and chemistry.



Mr. Benjamin Lewis
Science
"For your interest and edification . . . "

MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE

Mr. Rene Houde
Science
"Would you like to join my 2:05 club?"

. . . A Modern World

Mrs. Clara Ferguson
Science
Advisor: Astronomy Club,
Class of 1969
"And when the compass fails, you can always rely on the North Star."

Miss Patricia Glennon
Science
"You would like to come back period 7, wouldn't you?"

Mr. John Liberman
Science
Advisor: Student Council
"Tune in next year and find out."

SCIENCE

Preparing to Enter the Business World

Mrs. Ethel Atkinson
Business
Advisor: Typing Club
"O.K., get ready for a five minute."

Mrs. Ruth Rivkin
Business
Advisor: Typing Club
"You could NEVER do that in an office."

Mr. Joseph Courteau
Business
"I'll be back in a minute."

As in the past, Sharon's business administration department played a vital part in the self-discovery of those students headed towards commercial fields. Applied mathematics, bookkeeping, and business law provided the background necessary for business careers. Those entering secretarial fields attended classes in office skills, typing and stenography. Through well-directed courses, students have been prepared for productive, efficient careers in business.

Providing Training in Manual Arts

The Industrial Arts Department provided students with training in the basic skills of using hand tools and small machines. Students were given a chance to display their talent in woodworking. They began by making desks and book cases; eventually working up to power wood tools – lathe, circular saw, and jointer – and scaled model homes.

Mr. Nelson Rebello
Mechanical Drawing
Coach: Soccer
"That Cotton Pickin' . . ."

Mr. Thomas Marsilli
Industrial Arts
"Who dropped that rafter?"

The Art of Good Homemaking

The addition of a new faculty member to the Home Economics Department made possible the introduction of new programs. In addition to the practical arts of sewing and cooking, both Mrs. Eames and Mrs. McGarr introduced consumer education, handcrafts, and knitting. Students also learned the arts of nutrition, childcare, grooming, entertaining, and home furnishing.

Mrs. Jean McGarr
Home Economics
"Girls, did you bring your aprons?"

Mrs. Miriam Eames
Home Economics
Advisor: Home Economics Club
"Did you press your seams, girls?"

Mr. Gary Hall
Physical Education
Advisor: Boys' Varsity Club,
Boys' Gymnastics Club
"On the red line."

Miss Katherine Decas
Physical Education
Advisor: Girls' Varsity Club
Coach: Girls' Basketball
"Ten points off your grade and after school."

Mrs. Cynthia Smith
Physical Education
Coach: Girls' Softball
"What's this under the mat? Must be someone left over from last class!"

A Sound Mind in a Sound Body

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The goal of the Physical Education Department at Sharon High has been to develop physical fitness in the student. While teaching athletic skills, the teachers strived to instill a spirit of good sportsmanship and cooperation among their pupils. This year, the department added two new faculty members, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Allman. This has reduced the size of the gym classes and allowed for more individual attention.

Mr. Bruce Allman
Physical Education
"Will you guys set up?"

"We three must stick together!" Kris Koskella, Renee Swartz and Emily Shear confront Eileen Schaeffer and Harold Zakon.

But Most of all . . . .

Tension mounted as the members of the class of '68 coordinated their final efforts for the production of the senior play, "I Remember Mama". Under the direction of Mr. Newton and Jerold Cohen, the senior class presented a dramatic character portrait revolving around a young Norwegian girl's memories of her family. Although it had involved many hours of exacting work for the actors to perfect their Norwegian accents and for the crew to coordinate the technical details, the night of November 17 gave both cast and crew a sense of accomplishment.

I'll never remember my lines! Belle Mintzer helps

"What are you doing out in the country, sonny?" Phil Appel asks Jerry Cohen.

"Ooh, can I hold the baby?" Ronnie Coran asks Karen Hozid while Debbie Jones and Les Raisman look on.

"This is a very sick cat," Sue Jacobs informs Mama.

"Wait till he's not looking," Harold Zakon advises Diane Clere.

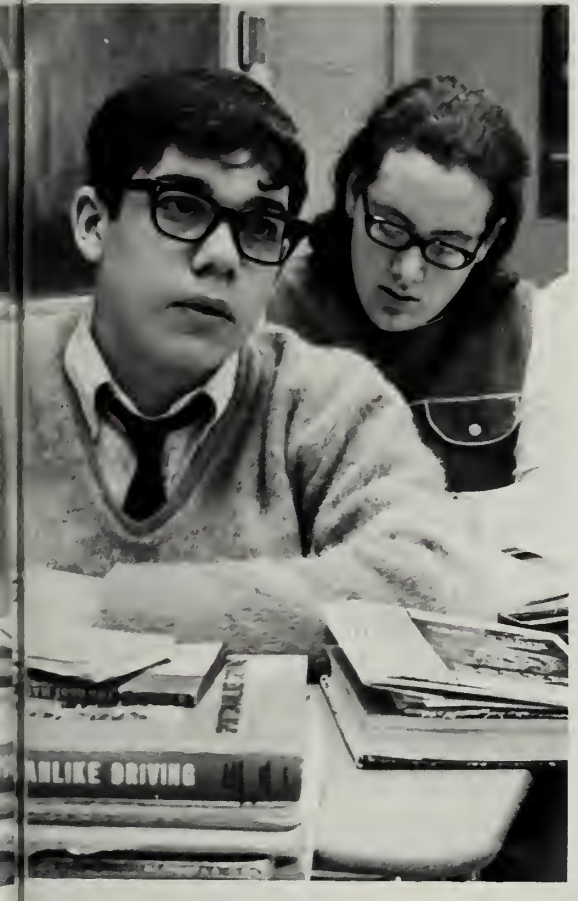
JUNIOR CLASS PLANNING BOARD

The junior year, being the most difficult and important one, encompassed many new experiences. Having received their class rings, the juniors took their place as upper classmen.

I know it's ridiculous, but type it anyway.



Homeroom 201–A. Alpert, J. Bellows, S. Bailey, A. Beauregard, R. Barker, J. Bayuk, L. Ashley, R. Aines, J. Asnes, P. Berchtold, D. Batt, M. Bernabei.

Homeroom 201–E. Bellis, D. Aaron, H. Beckman, C. Banker, M. Berger, S. Bearon, J. Atkinson, R. Berglund, J. Azanow, S. Adams, R. Beer.

By sponsoring the first social event of the year, "Mixed Emotions," the juniors worked hard to increase their treasury for the junior prom.

Will you please repeat that in English?

CLASS OF 1969

During the past year, the juniors were busy concentrating on their studies, as well as taking the numerous "alphabet tests": P.S.A.T., S.A.T., N.M.S.Q.T.

I can't figure out what happened to those atoms!

Girls Field Hockey

Coached by Miss Decas and Mrs. Smith, this year's Girls' Field Hockey team compiled one of its most successful records in its four year history. Despite their spirit, determination and hard practices, the girls were not able to defeat their more experienced rivals. However, led by their co-captains, Carol Pearce and Judy Layton, they did successfully master many skills and plays which helped them during the games.

The object is to get the ball into that net . . . Miss Decas explains to Leslie Bowen.

Sharon's Baseball Team Scores Number

The Impossible Dream

Drive, determination, and defense were the elements which contributed to Sharon's first Hockomock League Championship, and the most successful season in the history of Sharon High baseball. This feat was accomplished under the highly-spirited leadership of Coach Peckham and the cooperation of all his players. Although the team lost three games during the season, they always managed to win the big ones. In the past, Sharon has been recognized as a soccer and basketball power, but now our opponents will fear our baseball team as well.

SOFTBALL

Strike three . . . and they're out! This cry became a popular one as pitcher Carol Lamb took her position on the mound and pitched Sharon's way to many a winning game. These games could not have been won, however, without the skill and teamwork exhibited by the girls who backed up Carol in the field. The girls may not always have been at the top of the scoreboard, but due to the encouragement and zeal of Coach Decas, they scored first every time where spirit and enthusiasm were concerned!

Spurring Eagles on to Victory

Under the leadership of Mrs. McDonough, Sharon High's spirited cheerleaders spurred the Eagles on to victory. The squad projected its enthusiasm to the student body until the entire gym echoed with excitement. However, behind their well-performed cheers lay many hours of constant practice. During these rehearsals, the girls had to learn not only the basic skills of cheering, but also the cooperation needed to make the twelve girls a unit.

Reflecting the Year's Events

The 1968 MARSENGOLD reflects memories of a year at Sharon High. Members of the different staffs quickly learned that assembling a yearbook was a challenging experience. It required long hours spent in pouring over pictures, identifying students, writing articles . . . . . and rewriting them. It took a great deal of drive and determination to meet the deadlines which always seemed to be lurking just around the corner. However, the missed vacations and the sleepless nights all seemed worthwhile when we could present to the student body our year's reflections—The 1968 MARSENGOLD.

Student Council

Under the direction of Mr. Lieberman, the Student Council each year strives to achieve effective communication between the students and administration. Four delegates elected by each class as well as the vice-president of each class comprised the Council. Through this organization students voiced their opinions and presented their suggestions for discussion and action. In addition, the Council provided other services such as honor passes, good citizenship awards, and an honor study hall. The Council raised money for scholarships by selling candy at home basketball games, and by sponsoring both a Book Fair and the traditional Twirp Twirl.

AUDIO-VISUAL AIDS CLUB

The Audio-Visual Aids Club is a service club designed to help teachers convey basic concepts of their subject to the students in a more enjoyable manner. This year, the club was reorganized in two ways. First, the equipment was distributed to the resource centers in order to make it more accessible to the teachers. Second, the club had open membership for all interested students. With the increased membership resulting from this procedure, the club's elected officials became a representative executive board with members from each of the four grades.

Junior Classical League

"Do I hear ten cents? No, well, nine cents? . . . "

The Junior Classical League is a social organization made up of sophomores, juniors and seniors interested in the study of Latin. With their advisor, Miss Chase, members listened to reports, watched slides, and played Latin games. They sponsored a slave auction and raised money for the scholarship fund.

Classical Music Appreciation

On Tuesday afternoons, wing two was alive with "the sound of music." During this leisurely hour, members of the Classical Music Appreciation Club listened to the works of various classical composers interspersed between Mr. Chappuis' punny jokes. By listening to these compositions the club members learned to better appreciate classical music.

Mrs. Eames (Advisor), J. Edelstein, D. Jones, R. Coran, C. Wayne, P. McKinney, H. Levine.

By the time a girl reaches her senior year, it is expected that she know some of the fundamentals of good homemaking. For this reason, senior girls are allowed to use the facilities in the Home Economics room during seventh period. This year the members spent their time working on sewing projects. Although the girls worked independently, Mrs. Eames was always there to help.

Sharon Red Cross Youth Council

"Boy, someone was generous!"

SHARON RED CROSS YOUTH COUNCIL

At bi-monthly meetings, the members of the Red Cross Youth Council planned service projects for the school and the community. They participated in making the traditional favors, in decorating soaps, and in aiding at blood mobiles and hospitals. They also initiated a competitive and exciting Red Cross Drive which surpassed their expectations and beat all previous school records by collecting 152% of our quota.

OFFICERS
Mrs. Norwood (Advisor), S. Forman (President), J. Sullivan (Treasurer), N. Schwartz (Secretary), C. Killam (Program Chairman).

" . . . and they lived happily ever after."

Membership in the Creative Writing Club is open to all students interested in their own writing and in the study and appreciation of the writing of others. The club sponsored the Quill, a collection of poetry and prose written by the students of the school. The club also sponsored a writing contest and awarded prizes for prose and poetry. The prize-winners, original work submitted by club members, voluntary contributions made by students not in the club, and manuscripts submitted on the recommendation of the English faculty, made up the magazine.

DRAMATICS CLUB

Members of the Dramatics Club received an introduction to all aspects of a dramatic performance including acting, staging, costuming, and make-up. Under the dedicated direction of Mr. Newton and Miss Sanford, members enthusiastically undertook four assembly plays including "Thurber Carnival" and "Trifles." At the Massachusetts High School Drama Festival, they performed "The Apollo of Bellac" and won first place. Two weeks later, they presented this drama on television. Four Sharon Thespians–Connie Waldron, Charles Kravetz, Ellen Rafkin, and Jon Kravetz–were chosen for the All-Star Cast.

Investment Club

The Investment Club, sponsored by Mr. Coviellio and Mr. Lane was formed this year. Its purpose was to make interested students aware of the financial forces affecting their lives and to provide an opportunity for actual investment in listed securities. By gaining an early understanding of the complexities of the stock market, the members attained the ground work for successful investment in later life.

Boys' Varsity Club

"Don't grab, there's enought for all of us."

The Boys' Varsity Club is a school organization which has suceeded in benefiting not only the school but also the community. The organization's school functions have consisted of selling and taking tickets at basketball games, and organizing the pep rallies. The club also sponsored a cake sale, movies, and a dance. With its increasing responsibilities and its growing importance, the Boys' Varsity Club has remained an instrumental unit of Sharon High.

Hey guys, this is no time to fool around.

Assisting at Sports Functions . . .

"There's plenty for everyone!"

The purpose of the Girls' Varsity Club is to increase school spirit and to assist at sports functions. To qualify for membership, a girl must earn a varsity letter in an interscholastic sport. Under the direction of Miss Decas, the girls sold book covers before school, sponsored a car wash, and sold potato chips at home games. In cooperation with the Boys' Varsity Club, they sold boosters to raise money for new sports equipment. This year, the club sponsored a Volley Ball Play Day. The best players from the Hockomock League participated. For their efforts, senior members received white blazers.

In Retrospect

Our reflections mirror

the fleeting moments of tranquility and thought,

the laughing moments
of happy times together,

the busy moments
of striving toward new goals,

and the uncertain moments of dreams and hopes.
